WINE ADVOCATE

"The 2016 Rosso di Montalcino is a beautiful wine that could certainly rival full-fledged Brunello from some of the best estates in the appellation.

Poggio di Sotto makes a concerted effort to promote its Rosso as a stand-alone wine, and not as a little sister or Brunello inferior.

There is a unique level of primary fruit intensity here with bold fruit aromas of cassis and wild raspberry that you would never get in a wine that ages as long as Brunello does.

The context is young fruit, not evolved fruit.

In a sense, this wine embodies the true philosophy of Rosso di Montalcino more than any of its peers.

The wine is not less important than Brunello, but it does strive to display Sangiovese at a different moment in its lifeline." Monica Lerner
